NORWALK, Ohio – Every year around April, we get the so-called bug, “the itch”. The testosterone level rises in all of us. Why, you ask? Because the drag racing season is here. That’s no different for the Nitro Fever Racing Injected Nitro Dragster team. The team has had the winter to reflect on the past years, coming up with some great modifications to the car and new parts to ensure great performance.

“The team is very excited to compete at the B’laster Cavalcade of Stars at Summit Motorsports Park. With the potential for new marketing partners, the wheel-standing Ameling-built A/Fuel Dragster needs to put on a great show for the 30k-plus fans in Norwalk! The car will be chugging nitromethane as it powers down the track at over 260 mph,” said driver Dave Hill.

Nitro Fever Racing spent the winter preparing their car for another season of competition on the NHRA Lucas Oil Drag Racing Series tour. 2011 saw Hill and the team enter several NHRA divisional and national events, as well as IHRA Nitro Jam series races in the Pro Fuel Dragster class. This marks Dave’s fourth year competing in the fastest Sportsman class.

The crew – Brian, Bob, Ryan, and crew chief Ben Ameling – especially enjoy competing at Summit Motorsports Park.

“We always enjoy racing in front of the excited and very enthusiastic Ohio crowd,” said Ameling. “The Bader family has always provided great entertainment for families to come out and enjoy a premium show for a great price.”

Dave Hill and the boys from Indiana will join several of the Midwest’s best Top Alcohol Dragster teams at this weekend’s B’laster Cavalcade of Stars at Summit Motorsports Park, May 18-20. Qualifying for TAD starts at 7 pm on Friday night, followed by two more qualifying passes at 3:30 and 8 pm on Saturday. Eliminations will kick off on Sunday morning.
